

Can you describe an experience where you are convinced that you experienced the healing power of God?